

SPEAKERS FOR THE DAY

Paul Newman Paul leads the major National Lottery Heritage Funded project to relocate the Cheshire Archives service and to engage a more diverse audience with archives. He is the Archives and Heritage Manager, responsible for the leadership of archives, heritage engagement and museum collections teams.

Mark Leah is Senior Historic Environment Planning Officer (Archaeology), Cheshire. He has been providing archaeological development management advice in Cheshire for 25 years, originally to Cheshire County Council and its District Councils and, more recently, Cheshire East, Cheshire West and Chester, Halton and Warrington Councils. Prior to this Cheshire, Mark surveyed and excavated sites in the Fenland Project (Norfolk) and in the North West Wetlands Survey, where he concentrated on Cheshire, Shropshire and Staffordshire.

Susie White is a Finds Liaison Officer for the Portable Antiquities Scheme covering North East Wales, based at Wrexham Museum. Susie works with finder groups, local museums and communities invested in archaeology and heritage, establishing how and where archaeological material, found outside the research context, can be reported and recorded. Susie has worked as site registrar and senior field officer on excavations in England, the Isle of Man, Egypt and Oman. She specialises in studies of the clay tobacco pipe and curates the National Pipe Archive.

Graeme White and Sharon Varey. Prof. White and Dr Varey are the Editor and Associate Editor of Cheshire History

THE GRANGE THEATRE - HARTFORD

The Grange Theatre is situated in the quiet village of Hartford, near Northwich and is easily accessible by all major routes and public transport.

The venue has ample free car parking across the road from the entrance to the conference. There is a pedestrian crossing outside the main car park entrance and a guided walkway to the entrance to the building. Parking for blue badge holders can be arranged close to the entrance.

The theatre setting for the event has a seating capacity of 233 and has a fresh air handling system. There is space for bookstalls and society displays, in addition. A charge for organisations not in membership of CLHA is made.
